Driven by the idea of pursuing new and prospective paths in dental training, we have developed five master classes in dental implantology which offer participants a unique learning experience. We believe this will become a defining moment in your continued professional development, allowing you to elevate your practice to a new level and provide your patients superior and more predictable results. Through this specialized training, we aim to provide you with a new perspective on contemporary implantology, based on the scientific literature and predictable techniques applied clinically in our practice over the last 30 years.

Our goal is to offer advanced courses that challenge participants intellectually as well as improve both their surgical and prosthodontics expertise through lectures, live surgeries, and most importantly, hands-on training which they will be able to apply in their own practices upon completion of the course.

These master classes are suited for novices as well as seasoned professionals and designed as a hierarchical series that, ideally, should be completed in sequence. However, sessions can be booked individually or in series.
